MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY, JOINT INTELLIGENCE COMMITTEE:

SUBJECT: JIC 86/9

1. It is agreed that the JIC Publications Review Subcommittee has performed an important mission, and that its mere existence prevents duplication of intelligence effort. It is also apparent, however, that the activities of this subcommittee have been decreased drastically since the cessation of hostilities, and that there is no likelihood in the foreseeable future of an increase in these activities.

2. The National Intelligence Authority, when it completes its organization, will include in its activities the details of coordination discussed in this paper, and probably on a broader basis. Under these circumstances, it would appear both advisable and desirable to continue the subcommittee for a few months longer with its existing responsibilities.

3. It is recommended that the Secretary inform organizations who contribute membership to the Publications Review Subcommittee of the responsibilities of that subcommittee and that he request these organizations to reestablish the seniority of the subcommittee by appointing new membership as required. The Secretary should also inform the Director of Central Intelligence of the steps taken.
